Name: Cedric Tai

Position: Chair

Years at CCF: 3

Years been a Christian: 13+

Current Church: Toronto Chinese Baptist Church

Home Church: Toronto Chinese Baptist Church

Supporters:

"In the past three years, I have had the opportunity to know Cedric and have seen him grow greatly in his faith and maturity of character, as he pursues God in all aspects of life.

Cedric continues to show fervor for understanding God's Word and for worshipping Him in spirit and truth, in his regular study of scripture. He serves consistently, taking responsibility for the musical worship of the fellowship, while caring for the members of the worship team and Worship small group.

Academically, he strives to perform diligently and with understanding acquire the skills required of an engineering student - balancing the intense demand of school with other responsibilities.

He does not seek to compartmentalize life, but takes the opportunity to care for and witness to fellow students when occasion arises, and frequently tries to forge the connection between work/school and faith. He responsibly attends to the maintenance of his home, that it may be a suitable place to live for his sister and himself, and demonstrates hospitality in opening his home to others.

He also shows understanding of his own weaknesses and areas in need of growth, and takes them into consideration as he serves.

Overall, in Cedric I see love for God and a passion to seek after Him; a concern for others and a humble evaluation of himself; a desire to connect all facets of life into a single life of worship. Therefore, I hereby nominate and support Cedric for the position of Chairperson in the coming year."

- Justin Wong

"I fully support Cedric's nomination for UTCCF Chair for the following reasons: 1) Cedric's practical leadership skills, 2) Cedric's love and compassion for others, and 3) his love and commitment to God.

1) Leadership skills - God has blessed Cedric with the leadership skills necessary to lead UTCCF to fulfilling God's will. Cedric is very outspoken, energetic, and is willing to take initiative to accomplish his vision. He steps out of his comfort zone, and is willing to take responsibility for his actions, even if his decisions lead to disagreements.

2) Love for others - I have seen him tend to others, whether it be an emotionally distraught individual, or a person with an injury. Moreover, when his decisions as a leader leads to disagreements, he has demonstrated to me that he tries his best to act through love and compassion for others. Actions such as these show that Cedric really cares for others and demonstrates that as Chair, he will do what is best for all members of UTCCF according to God's will. He truly believes in "investing in people."

3) Love and commitment to God - Cedric has a passion for serving God, and a commitment to do His will. Being in the same investment group as Cedric, I see his hunger and thirst for God's word every Friday. Furthermore, his passion and continuous dedication into leading worship ministry over the years demonstrates to me his commitment to serving God.

For these reasons and more, I fully believe that having Cedric as Chair will be a blessing to all of UTCCF in the following year."

- Timothy Kwan

"This is a statement that demonstrates my support for Cedric Tai. My experience co-leading with Cedric this year for worship small group has been fruitful. He is capable of managing tedious logistics; a great planner who forecasts what is going to happen long beforehand and one who is pretty flexible to changes. One thing that inspires me the most is, even though he knows a lot, you will still find him learning behind the curtains. From the time how he has decided to make up his mind studying Engineering Science in 1st year, it is not a doubt that he has been bearing the fruit of perseverance and joy. As you usually see him on Fridays, he is joyful most of the time rather than sad. More encouragingly, it is contagious to see his huge heart to see people around him to grow and walk in the Lord. Even though at times he can be quite impatient and independent, as long as he knows you care and have a heart to communicate, he will definitely put down everything at that moment and listen to you.

Not only is he a great leader, he is also a great friend and a true worshipper for Father God. I believe he can lead CCF by the power of the Holy Spirit to greater heights and depths which will lead us, as a fellowship to our Father God. I am praying there will be a loving and patient vice-chairman to offer him the help he needs and be a great partner with him to lead CCF.

I believe in the vision that Father God has casted upon Cedric's heart. I sincerely hope he will continue be a good keeper of His dreams in the future at all costs.

Last but not least, "We will be the dreamers of Your (Father God's) dreams"- Song, Dreamers of Your Dream"

Supporters:

*"I would like nominate Natasha as Vice-Chair because I believe she has the potential to be one of the pillars in UTCCF next year. After knowing her for three years and serving with her in many UTCCF events, I've seen Natasha grow as an ambassador for Christ, supporting many aspects of CCF and Treehouse ministry. Her ability to build connections with people will surely help her guide the upcoming small groups and committee. As a believer after God's own heart, she puts others before herself and works to build up young leaders in this fellowship as her vision. Next year, I anticipate what can come out of those encouraging hugs and loving motherly heart. HUGS!!"*

- Lydia Lin

"I, Michael Li, support the nomination for Natasha Sanderson as Vice-President of the University of Toronto Chinese Christian Fellowship. I have known Natasha for the past three years and my experience with her has lead me to believe that she will be suitable for this role. She has a caring heart and her actions clearly demonstrate care for the wellbeing of others. As such, I believe that she is well-equipped to provide support for small group leaders and ensure their overall welfare. In addition, she is devoted to Christ and His continual work is evident in her life. She understands that it is God who renews our strength and that we must hope in Him. Natasha has been and will continue to be a blessing to UTCCF as she seeks to serve in this role."

- Michael Li

"I'm writing to express my support for Nat's nomination for Vice-Chair. As Vice-Chair, she will need to support the Chair and the leadership in CCF. From what I know of her, Nat is not only a good encouragement and supporter, but she also has a heart for people. In particular, she has a passion for the next generation and for the leadership in CCF to work as one body. I'm excited to see how God will use her in this capacity and am happy to support her nomination."

Name: Justin Wong

Position: Secretary and Treasurer

Supporters:

"I, Michael Li, nominate Justin Wong for the position of Secretary-Treasurer at the University of Toronto Chinese Christian Fellowship for 2011-2012 term. I have known Justin for three years and have served with him on the UTCCF executive committee over this past year. Through this time, his faith in Christ and dedication to Him have been evident in his words and actions. Justin believes in the importance of prayer -- an essential attribute for leadership -- and has implicitly served as a reminder to me in this regard. In discussions, his comments are thoughtful, wise, and gracious and as such, I believe that his presence in committee will be a blessing.

Justin also possesses experience and attributes that will be valuable in the role of Secretary-Treasurer. He is incredibly diligent and understands the burden of responsibility and will reliably fulfill the requirements of the position. He also has experience with managing the finances of the house at which he lives. I believe that he has been well-equipped to serve again on committee and I look forward to all the cool ways God will use him next year."

- Michael Li

"I support Michael's nomination of Justin for Secretary/Treasurer. Having known Justin for the past 3 years I can say that he is a very dependable and mature individual who would be capable of fulfilling this role perfectly. His somewhat reserved personality would fit well with this position as he would be working in the background supporting his committee. The most important trait going for Justin would be his experience of previously being part of committee as Male DL. His presence within the committee would be a great as he would be able to share his experience with new committee members. His spiritual maturity is well developed and is always eager to probe deeper into scripture for understanding of God. So again, I do also support Justin Wong for this position."

- Andy Ho

"I have known Justin for almost 3 years and I have had the pleasure working alongside him in freezer last year. I believe Justin has the ability to take on the responsibilities of Secretary Treasurer. He is smart (EngSci!), organized, and thoughtful which attests to his ability to take on this role. The duties of Sec Tres will demand a lot of time from him but I believe he understands the responsibilities of the role and will be able to maintain a good balance in his life.

As a person, he is friendly and approachable. Justin is also patient and gentle yet forceful enough to speak the truth. His ability to mull over situations/questions and present a fair and Christ-like answer (with grace) always has me amazed. Additionally, he is very dedicated to the ministries he participates in and to school. This was exemplified by how he felt the need to plan out the vision of freezer and took the lead in gathering the leaders to set out the weekly activities 2 months in advance. Honestly, he is a man who truly seeks God with his whole heart and I feel he has the fellowship's best interests at heart!"

Name: Clement Fung

Position: Male Devotional Leader

Years at CCF: 3

Years been a Christian: 4-6

Current Church: Toronto Chinese Gospel Church

Home Church: Emmanuel English Church (HK)

Supporters:

"Clement Fung is a sinner just like you and I. Thanks to the work of Christ on the Cross he is now saved and the work of Christ is clearly seen in him! I personally knew Clement since his first year while he was still a "punk" (sometimes even seemingly a little arrogant) but very willing to listen, learn and change. In his second year, I had to privilege to live with him, serve with him on committee and personally mentor him. While being extremely capable in logistics, he is also someone who is extremely social and simply loves to meet people and grow with them. Through Clement's making mistakes but actively learning through them and changing, he has grown tremendously through throughout UTCCF 09-10 and God has blessed and healed me personally many times through Clement. Even though Clement was in Scotland this past year, he sends us updates and we have seen his continual openness towards God's Word and His mold.

The greatest gifts I personally identify in Clement is 1) his willingness to listen, learn and change and 2) his passion for the Word of God and to take it absolutely seriously knowing that its large impacts on one's life during university and 3) his heart to get to know people deeply. With these, I strongly believe Clement is a suitable Male Devotional Leader candidate to serve the fellowship as a mature older brother in Christ. Regardless of position, I believe Clement will be a strong role model/mentor for the males at CCF as we grow together from being "boys" to "men"."

- Jonathan Fung

"I have known Clement since the beginning of our second year and since then; I have seen him demonstrate continuous spiritual growth and maturity. Whether it is his personal relationship with God and people, academics or sports, his desire to strive to be better and to be more, is present and has definitely been an encouragement to me. Previously, he served on CCF committee as social coordinator and anyone who was around that year can attest to the fact that he went above and beyond his role to ensure all events were executed well, for the glory of God. He is approachable and friendly and continues to make an effort to get to know people including newcomers. His sociability and initiative enables him to work extremely well with different people, something that is crucial with any leadership role. He is a role model and strives to lead by example so that others will strive to want to be better for Christ. Although, his presence was missed this year because of his exchange in Scotland, I believe that his experiences overseas, while away from CCF, will allow him to bring a different perspective to committee, allowing them to accommodate for greater diversity within the fellowship.”

- Serene Wong

“Since my second year to now, I have seen tremendous growth and maturity in Clem. His desire and passion to read the word of God and live out his faith has truly been an inspiration. His goal is to strive towards spiritual maturity, and that is something he is passionate about, regardless of his role in CCF. I truly believe that his sense of desire and drive to become a man of God can spur and lead his younger brothers towards the same goal. His past leadership experience with committee, serving as social coordinator, will allow him to provide insight and guidance for the committee next year. Moreover, his experiences abroad will also allow him to provide a different dimension to committee. One of the most distinct qualities I admire about Clem is his honesty and genuine heart to serve. He humbly admits his shortcomings and continuously strives to improve and become the better version of himself. His openness to share and grow with others enables his brothers to seek him for support and guidance. In the time that I have known Clem, I have never known him to go back on his word, and have witnessed his willingness to put forth the greatest possible effort in all his endeavors.”

Name: Elliott Jun

Position: Male Devotional Leader

Years at CCF: 1

Years been a Christian: 1-3

Current Church: Toronto Chinese Methodist Church

Home Church: Toronto Chinese Methodist Church

Supporters:

"I am writing to express my support for Elliott's nomination for Male Devotional Leader. Ultimately, the Male DL needs to care for the spiritual needs of those in CCF. I believe our deepest spiritual needs are met through our relationship with God through Jesus Christ and His Word. Elliott's passion and hunger for the Word has inspired me to delve deeper into the living truths found in the Bible, and I firmly believe he will inspire others to find their deepest longings filled as the Word becomes flesh in their lives."

- Joshua Wang

"Through my conversations with Elliott, I have seen his passion for studying God's Word and for seeing others develop a similar love for knowing God. In his time spent with the fellowship (whether it be in the Frosh group Freezer, large group, and Winter Retreat), he has come to be more open to those around him, and shown awareness to areas of in need of personal growth. I believe that he has grown in his connection to this place and people, able to call this fellowship another part of home that he will gladly serve, whether in official capacity or not. He has demonstrated forethought on how to help the fellowship grow, in considering the approaches of this year and how they may be complemented or improved. Seeing these facets Elliott's person, I write my support for his nomination to run for Male Devotional Leader in the coming year."

- Justin Wong

"I would like to nominate Elliott Jun for a male devotional leader because I firmly believe in his vision. We were mentored by a great man of God who showed us what the love of Christ is, and also shared with us his love for the Word. He spurred us on towards good deeds and love as well as constant prayer. Under his leadership we have also developed a passion for the word and Elliott definitely shows deep understanding and yearning for it as well. Not only does he understand but is able to turn that knowledge into wisdom by applying it into his daily life. In our own circle of friends, Elliott has constantly demonstrated to us the Word in flesh, by actively living out the Word and rebuking us where necessary. I believe that Elliott will ignite a passion in those who do not seek the Word fervently by being a prime example of love himself."

Name: Nicole Chow

Position: Female Devotional Leader

Years at CCF: 3

Years been a Christian: 4-6

Current Church: Toronto Chinese Baptist Church

Home Church: Toronto Chinese Baptist Church

Supporters:

"Listening to Nicole speak about her vision for CCF next year is inspiring; she possesses the drive and passion for the role, but also the self-awareness of the responsibility that comes with taking on such a role and I believe that her journey of faith has prepared her well for the position of female DL. Being in the same Investment Group as her this year, I've had the chance to listen to her facilitate bible study discussions and share with us experiences and convictions in her relationship with God. These discussions speak strongly to me, of her heart for God as he continues to work through her to touch the people around her. Her struggles in her personal pursuit of God have refined a sensitivity in her that enables her to relate to many people, and consequently engage in fruitful conversations that build up both parties. Her dedication to rooting herself in the Word is commendable, and involves a strong disciplined resolve in her faith. In this sense, Nicole carries with her a true sense of fellowship and it is a blessing for me to be able to support her as she takes another step into new things God is calling her to through CCF committee."

- Jasmine Gui

"Hello everyone! For those of you who don't know me, I have attended CCF for the first three years of my undergrad and lived in TreeHouse for two of those years; thus I believe that I am able to nominate Nicole Chow for female DL with the knowledge of what the role entails! I've seen female DL's during these years, and I believe that Nicole has both the heart for CCF women and the ability to serve them well. She is capable in developing interpersonal relationships with newcomers and alumni, and moreover, is able to really show love to those around her and perceive their needs. I have seen her commitment to the wellbeing of the sisters around her, including myself. Having known Nicole for the past 2 years, I have seen her mature in her faith, and I truly believe that she is ready to serve the women at CCF as a part of the committee this year. She has told me in depth about her vision. Her desire to develop women into true disciples is both in line with CCF's constitution and the calling that Jesus calls us to. I believe her vision is especially well tailored to the present needs of CCF and will meet CCF women where they are and challenge them to grow. I am confident that with God's leading, Nicole will serve as an encouraging and faithful servant at CCF."

- Alyssa Wang

"I have personally known Nicole since the beginning of her university life and since then I have personally witness her staggering continuing growth, maturity and the great works God has done through her. She has increasingly become more active over the years in her service to CCF. In particular she has actively displayed her leadership qualities through leading in my investment groups for the past two year, as well as her involvement in arts ministry and co-organising this year's graduate committee. Upon listening to her vision as well as through our regular catch-ups, I am in particular encouraged for her desire to allow His word be hungered and thirst each day, as well as striving to become better and more present in this fellowship. She has taken the initiative this year to build up fellow sisters within this fellowship by forming her own women discipleship group as well as co-launching Campus Alpha to reach the Gospel to those who have yet to hear. Her willingness and humbleness to listen and learn throughout these past few years as well being prepared to take on the full reasonability for the females at our fellowship has been extremely encouraging. Through my current experience on serving on committee as well as my past leadership experience in various ministries, I have been able to observe and discern the capacity that is require for leadership and I am more than convinced that Nicole would be a suitable candidate in leading both the men and in particular the older and younger women of this fellowship."

Supporters:

"I first met Elizabeth this year at CCF, and over the last several months, have had the pleasure and privilege of witnessing her growth as a daughter of God. A first impression of her may be that of a quiet and young woman. Upon speaking to her however, you will find that behind the quietness lies a deep strength and joy grounded in her relationship with our Father. You will discover that although she may be young in years, Elizabeth possesses a maturity derived not from age but from a great desire to seek after God's heart. Her hunger and thirst for the Bible are insatiable, as she continually strives to know and walk accordingly to the Word of God.

Elizabeth's walk with God is not one that is private – as infectious as her laugh, is her desire to know God and His Word more and to love others with His love. I am continually inspired and challenged by the example she sets in making herself available and sharing her life with others. She has the wonderful ability to relate and connect well to very diverse groups of people, transcending differences of age, culture, and spiritual walk.

As a small group leader at Winter Retreat, she also demonstrated great humility, seeking the advice of others and willingly listening in order to better her person. Strong in her faith, loving in nature, teachable in spirit, I trust that God will continue guiding her walk as she considers her calling to leadership."

- Hannah Wong

"Being Freezer leader this year, I had the chance to interact with Elizabeth on many occasions and have seen her growth to be inspiring. She is very open and willing to share with others. She has been active in bringing more believers and non-believers to come out to CCF and has been there to continuously support them. She has also been actively meeting with people inside and outside of CCF to continue her own spiritual walk.

Although one may perceive her to be too young to be a leader, Elizabeth has shown that age is not an issue. She is very humble and willing to ask others for advice when she identifies her need for guidance. At the same time, she has displayed strong maturity for her age which many of us see.

Her love for the Word is very refreshing. From my own observations and the encouraging words of others, Elizabeth has been very active in the weekly Bible studies in CCF and has had experience in leading Bible studies during this past winter retreat. She has the craving to learn more and above all, her contagious love for the Word that encourages others is displayed through her personal consistent reading and memorizing scripture that it may be of use in life. She lives according to her beliefs and she doesn't shy away from challenges in life, rather, she is willing to approach others to continually challenge her to grow in her spiritual walk."

- Allen Ho

"Not much is widely known about Elizabeth Grace Wong, but I have had the pleasure to be inspired by her gentle spirit through this past year. I have been a witness to her testimony and her character by sharing the same investment group and recent Winter Retreat small group together. There are several characteristics that serve her well as she considers the position of female devotional leader in the upcoming year. She displays maturity beyond her years, and an incomparable gentleness in attitude and character. Although she may seem quiet and reserved, her voice is filled with wisdom, clarity, and strength. She does not act rashly; nor is she quarrelsome. Her sharing is genuine and honest, and she is willing to seek help when she does not know the answer. But most of all, there is a stirring hunger in her heart and spirit for God. She yearns to learn more from God's Word, to meditate on it, and to live it out -- permeating through her being. Her hunger for Him is insatiable, and the Word is a meal that she desires. I will always remain a witness to this growing woman after God's heart, and I only wish to foresee what great works God has planned to do through her."

Name: Fiona Tang

Position: Outreach Coordinator

Years at CCF: 3

Years been a Christian: 1-3

Current Church: New Hope Fellowship

Home Church: New Hope Fellowship

Supporters:

"It's been 3 years since I've met Fiona. From Fiona being a non-believer, seeking about what's Christianity is all about, discovering Jesus, realizing that she cannot trust herself with herself, to her baptism and commitment to living a life of discipleship of Jesus, witnessing her heart changed and transformed by Jesus. It is a testimony of God's love! It's very encouraging now, hearing about her growing and learning through reading scriptures and many Christian books. I remember Terry saying how he gets freaked out when a bunch of them go on study parties and Fiona randomly would take out scriptures and read it. WOW! That reveals the desire of her heart to yearn and thirst for His Word. Also, during exam season when she finished early, she spent the rest of the exam period baking for people who are studying at Gerstein. WOW again!

So as a friend and brother in Christ, witnessing her growing passion for the campus, for reaching out to those who may not know Jesus, I am confident that God will work in and through her continuing and that running for Outreach Coordinator in CCF is a great opportunity for CCF to engage in living out the Great Commission in our campus and in our community. "

- Cedric Tai

" The greatest requirement of Outreach Coordinator is neither administrative aptitude nor event management; rather, it is Love. Throughout my time in CCF, I have seen Fiona's need to share God's love as a joyful response to having experienced it firsthand. She has displayed a yearning to strive after God's own heart and play her part in His divine will. Regarding those yet unreached, God has used her capacity for love to break her heart for them. He has also placed brothers and sisters in her life for mutual encouragement in this narrow road that we walk called Eternal Life, encouraging her to emulate Him in her daily life.

Matthew 28:19 shows us the Great Commission. As an extension of loving one another, we are to go forth and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the Name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. The Great Commission is not limited to our own campus here, but its current secular nature is evidence enough that we have work to yet to be completed. The sight of lost souls should be breaking our hearts, just as God's heart was broken for us.

Fiona has been personally baptized in the name of the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. She in turn has shown a desire to lead others to communion and baptism with God, helping to disciple them as she herself is being disciplined. From the time that she accepted Jesus Christ as her Lord and Saviour little more than a year ago, Fiona's hunger and thirst for God has inspired others (especially myself) to yearn to know God. Because of this personal experience in my spiritual life, I trust that Fiona will continue to carry out God's will in others' lives as Outreach Coordinator."

- Joshua Law

"In the past three years I have known Fiona, I have seen her heart grow for God and to see His will be done in her life. Her continual thirst to have a faith rooted in the Word, to experience God everyday and desire to be equipped to be an effective vessel for Him has always encouraged me to re-evaluate my own life. The Great Commission is a calling that she takes seriously as shown through her commitment in reaching out to many around her. Her desire to see others step out of their comfort zone and take great leaps for the Gospel is an area that I believe she can lead CCF to grow in. It is hard to ignore her genuine heart in wanting to share the Good News that has so powerfully changed her own life, with others and to see them come to know Christ personally. Her openness in sharing about her life testimony and reflections is a way that I believe she can lead by example in building unity within CCF. It is in sharing that she hopes to edify others and give evidence of God's power in transforming lives. Her involvement in the dance and drama team at New Hope Fellowship and CCF, and as a small group leader for the Campus Alpha course are just a few ways she is using her spiritual gifts and relying on God to help her serve in ways that she may not initially feel equipped to."

Supporters:

"I would like to nominate Carrie Lu for the position of Large Group Coordinator. I am always encouraged to see her heart to serve the attendees of UTCCF and her initiative in seeking out opportunities for her to do so. Her weekly involvement in the hospitality ministry has opened to her the opportunity to possibly serve as the Large Group coordinator of CCF and through her involvement, Carrie has shown that she is one who is competent and responsible in carrying out the tasks she has at hand. For the 2 years that I have known Carrie, she has struck me to be someone who wants to know God and to be known by Him. She is brave and honest in confronting her own weaknesses and uncertainties, and in upholding it to God. She has a big heart to share with others the gifts that God has blessed her with and I believe that God can and will use her in the future works of the committee and CCF."

- Tsuey Xin Ho

"Carrie's heart for CCF is apparent weekly through her serving in hospitality. She is greatly interested in the people that come to CCF and is quick to establish new connections and make new people feel welcome, whilst maintaining close relationships with friends. Her passion for the people to me will be a great asset through her serving in the role of large group coordinator as she has always been an active part of the community of CCF. She is not hesitant to address personal struggles and is always ready to listen, willing to take extra steps to make other people comfortable in order to further fellowship. All these are fundamental aspects of building up CCF fellowship and she is able to lead by example and influence others to do the same. Her sensitivity and meticulous approach to decisions have often steadied the people around her and will be extremely valuable in committee. The time and effort she puts into discernment and prayer are noteworthy and are a reflection of her heart in her relationship with God. Having gotten to know her over the year has been an huge blessing and I am positive that her contribution to committee and CCF will be invaluable."

- Jasmine Gui

"I am honored to nominate Carrie for the following year's large group coordinator, I am encouraged that she is willing to step out of her comfort zone and to take up this challenge. She is energetic, caring and faithful."

Throughout this year, she has been co-leading the fellowship's hospitality ministry. With a caring and hospitable heart, she has shown her passion for connecting on a deeper level with CCFers and newcomers. Moreover, I strongly believe that her active personality can create a comfortable and hospitable atmosphere in our large group. This will enhance the unity of this Christ centered community. Within a committee setting, I am convinced that her great qualities will enable her to support and facilitate the CCF committee to unite together and to maintain accountability.

It was a privilege for me to get to know Carrie in the past 1.5; it was a blessing to me both personally and spiritually. I am very confident that by the guidance of Holy Spirit, she will continue to connect CCFers and newcomers to become a united body but will also coordinate CCF large group. I trust that Carrie's vision will build a tighter and more interactive community in CCF large group. Overall, I believe that for Carrie running as large group coordinator, it will be beneficial to both CCF and her personal growth with God."
